

First Aid

In any industry, safety mechanisms may fail, which leads to accidents. That's why we have first aid kits, always ready for use. Whether for attending to minor injuries, or stabilizing a seriously injured employee before professional help arrives, a first aid kit must be ready-to-use, just in case.

According to Workplace Safety and Health (First Aid) Regulations, every workplace shall be provided with sufficient number of first aid boxes. Every first aid box must be properly equipped and maintained, placed in accessible and well-lit place for easy identification and be under the charge of an appointed person.
